W. C. HARDING ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET IN BRAIN

DESPONDENCY OVER MONEY MATTERS CAUSE OF SAD TRAGEDY THIS MORNING

"Nothing doing, good bye." With these words Will C. Harding, known throughout the southern country as "Red," hung up the receiver of his telephone, placed the muzzle of a pistol in his mouth and leaped into eternity.

For several days past "Red" had been brooding over his financial affairs and the illness of his wife. He neither ate nor slept, but was to be seen on the streets and in public places at all hours after attending to his business affairs. He went to his house on upper Main street this morning about 8:30 and called up a close friend, Frank Cavanaugh, the undertaker. This is almost verbatim the conversation that ensued:

"Frank, listen now. I want you to do something for me." Mr. Cavanaugh says that he judged from the tone that "Red" had been drinking and he replied: "All right, let her go." "I want you to take care of my wife." "What's the matter with you, Red?" "That's all right, it goes. Within a minute it will be all over." "What's the matter?" "I'm

MANHATTAN EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK

(Special Bonanza Correspondence.)
Manhattan, March 26, 1915.

R. T. Wood, technically known as biological assistant, arrived from Washington, D. C., a few days ago to instruct the ranchers in this region in the government method of exterminating ground squirrels and other crop destructive "vermin." He will be assisted by Messrs Steele and McGowan, of the local forestry service, and after remaining a month or so he will go to South Dakota on a similar mission.

L. W. Rakestraw a few days ago received by wire the sad news of the death of his father at Toledo, Ohio. Owing to the stress of business engagements here, coupled with the impossibility of reaching his home city in time for the interment, Mr. Rakestraw reluctantly remains here.

He has the sympathy of this entire community in his bereavement.

Messrs. Ed Smith and Clarence Phillips, successful placer leasers down the gulch, respectively took delivery this week of Ford touring cars.

Joe Jewel, one of the many successful leasers here, left this week for Alaska and incidentally to take in the fair at San Francisco.

The roads through the valley being exceptionally good and the water fine, the proper caper just now is a motor trip to Darragh hot springs. Under the management of Perfecto and Victor—from time immemorial popular brands—the resort is gaining

RUSSIA, FOR THE THIRD TIME, HOLDS THE GATES TO HUNGARY, AND SUPREME EFFORT WILL BE PUT FORTH BY TEUTONS

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, March 27.—Decisive action by Italy is regarded in Rome as imminent. A Rome dispatch says that the government has taken every possible measure preparatory to beginning war on the side of the allies. Rome asserts a tendency on the part of Bulgaria to adopt a policy favorable to the allies, to act in conjunction with Italy and Roumania. The British press says that Italy and the Balkan states are stubbornly "sitting on the fence," and are apt to maintain this position until the Dardanelles fighting is settled. Prince George of Greece is leaving Italy for Athens to support the policy of his brother, King Constantine, for the continued neutrality of his nation in opposition to the faction that favors intervention on the side of the allies. Russia for the third time holds the gates to Hungary and observers expect that the Teutonic allies will make a supreme effort to prevent the forces of the czar from again pouring into the Hungarian plains. In Holland there is a growing sense of injury over the unfortunate situation of Dutch shipping, which is described by newspapers as suffering from "the competition of illegality in marine warfare."

SUBMARINE LOCATED, BUT NOT RAISED

(By Associated Press.)
HONOLULU, March 27.—Efforts are being made to raise submarine F-4, it having been located by grappling irons last night. The rescuers plan to raise the craft nearer the surface so that divers may be lowered to superintend the progress of the work. It is feared that the cables may slip before the divers get an opportunity to make secure. Some believe that the men may still be alive. While there is a possibility of life, naval authorities are agreed it would be a little short of the miraculous if any of the crew should survive their fearful ordeal. The army department of the hospital corps is in readiness to receive the men should they be living. All available ships in the harbor are assisting in the rescue. It may be brought to the surface any time this afternoon. The weather is fine, facilitating work.

There were eleven men in the band. They road into the town and proceeded to loot the banks. The citizens began arming and a running battle followed. The citizens crowded the other nine men so that they were compelled to stand and fight. A posse surrounded the bandits, who were attempting to take cover in a dense grove. Jerry Turner, a farmer, was fatally wounded in the first shot. Starr was refused to comply with the robbers' orders to throw up his hands. A specimen of the quartz, weighing over 100 pounds, was brought into town at noon, where it excited much favorable comment, as it may mean the finding of ore farther east in the district. GOVERNMENT SETS ASIDE LARGE FERTILE TRACT FOR THEIR USE

(By Associated Press.)
PANAMA, March 27.—Arrangements are being made to bring the former large Mormon colony that at one time flourished in northern Mexico to the province of Chiriqui in western Panama. President Porras of Panama has signified his willingness to aid in bringing this class of agriculturists to the republic.

It is understood that the Panama government has set aside a large fertile tract in the province which will be sold to the settlers at the lowest possible price for public lands. Some of the lands selected will have to be purchased from private holders, but it is said the government has promised its aid in obtaining them at a reasonable figure.

For some time negotiations looking to the bringing of this colony to Panama have been conducted by John Q. Critchlow, a leading Mormon high in the councils of the church at Salt Lake City. He has recently made a number of trips to the isthmus and is now engaged in selecting the proposed sites for colonization in the vicinity of David, La Concepcion and Boquete in western Panama.
